Kerr Regional History Center to present “Hill Country Music” and “Splendors of Mexico”

Kerrville, Texas (Aug. 15, 2022) – The Kerr Regional History Center is proud to present “Hill Country Music,” an exhibition about the rich history of Hill Country music. Learn about how country music was created and helped inspire other music genres, and how a German music teacher, Julius Weiss, helped inspire Scott Joplin to create ragtime and become the “King of Ragtime.” The exhibit will feature the Kerrville Folk Festival and how the event inspired the music scene in Texas. The exhibit will run from Aug. 16 through Oct. 13.

Additionally, beginning Aug. 16 the Kerr Regional History Center will present “Mexico: Splendors of Thirty Centuries,” an exhibition based on the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the San Antonio Museum of Art's international exhibition, and organized by Humanities Texas, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

In Mexico, two civilizations have lived and fought across the land and within the soul of every individual. One civilization is native to the Americas. The other originated in Europe, but now is so firmly ensconced that it has become an elemental part of the Mexican character.

"Mexico" presents 3,000 years of Mexican culture and history. Photographs highlight stone sculptures from prehistoric times, liturgical artifacts from Colonial days, 19th-century portraits and landscapes, and works on canvas and paper by 20th-century muralists. The exhibition serves to enhance appreciation of the richness and complexity of Mexico and its people.

The exhibition will be available to the public from Aug. 16 thru Sept. 8. The Kerr Regional History Center is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Humanities Texas develops and supports diverse programs across the state, including lectures, oral history projects, teacher institutes, museum exhibitions and documentary films. For more information, please visit Humanities Texas online at <http://www.humanitiestexas.org> or call (512) 440-1991.
