Readers, Writers & Books: Discover the many ways to tell your story this Saturday at the library

Kerrville, Texas (Sept. 21, 2025) – The Butt-Holdsworth Memorial Library invites the community to an inspiring session of Readers, Writers & Books, a program designed to celebrate the art of storytelling. This special event will be held on Saturday, Sept. 27 in the library's first-floor meeting room. The space will open at 10 a.m., with introductions beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The day begins with Claudia Sullivan, who will discuss the tools and benefits of journal writing. She will provide practical tips for those just beginning as well as for individuals looking to deepen their journaling practice. Following her presentation, lunch will be provided from 12-12:30 p.m.

At 12:40 p.m., author Mike Bradley will present “Memoir Writing”. Drawing from his own work, “Big Mike”, Bradley will offer valuable insights into how to craft a memoir that captures personal experiences with clarity and impact.

The final session begins at 1:40 p.m. with Karen Russell, who will explore the process of researching family history. Her presentation will highlight how uncovering family mysteries can be transformed into compelling stories that preserve history for future generations.

Readers, Writers & Books promises to be an engaging day for writers, readers, and anyone interested in discovering new ways to tell their story.

Registration is requested for headcount purposes. Interested participants may stop by the library’s reference desk, call (830) 258-1274, or register online. The program is free and open to adults ages 18 and older.
